Saturday, July 6. 1706.

From the Paris Gazette, dated June 26.

Rome, June 1.

THE 27th of last Month at Night we receiv'd Advice of the Death of Cardinal Marco Antonio Barbarigo a Venetian, who died that Day at Montefiascone. His whole Life was spent in Piety, doing Works of Charity in which he was very liberal of his Estate, tho' to his own Person he was very sparing, and liv'd with a Simplicity worthy of the primitive times. Yet he shew'd his Magnificence in Building and endowing his seminary at Montefiascone, where a great Number of young Persons design'd for holy Orders are brought up. He has left all his Estate to that Seminary, except some Legacies of no great Value which he has bequeath'd to Signior Barbarigo his Nephew, and to his Servants. He was born on the Sixth Day of May 1640, and was made a Cardinal the 1st of September 1686. The 28th the Ambassador of Venice had an Audience of the Pope, and presented to him a Letter from the Doge, in which he thank'd his Holiness for having promoted Signior Badoero and Signior Priuli, noble Venetians, to the Dignity of Cardinals.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated June 29.

Vienna, June 16. To Day the Court laid aside the Mourning for the late Emperor Leopold, which had been worn a Year and six Weeks. The Emperor has confer'd upon Count Guttenstein Lieutenant-General the Government of Prague, vacant by the Death of General Count Traun. The hopes of a Speedy Accomodation between the Malecontents of Hungary and the Imperial Court begin to revive; and the Emperor's Plenipotentiaries, as also the Ministers Mediators of England and Holland, are gone from hence to Presbourg to enter upon the Negotiation with those Malecontents. We have receiv'd Advice by Letters from Constantinople, that the King of France's Ambassador has lately us'd new Endeavours to prevail with the Grand Seignior to joyn his Arms with those of the Hungarian Malecontents; but his Highness has declar'd to him anew, that he is determin'd to observe and maintain the Truce concluded at Carlowitz with the Emperor and his Confederates. There is Ground to believe that this Declaration of the Sultan, and the News of the great Victory obtain'd by the Allies over the French at Ramilly, have induc'd the Malecontents of Hungary to offer to treat with the Emperor in good earnest.

Francfort, June 24. They write from the Rhine, that the French Forces have evacuated Neustad and Spire, and are march'd up towards the Lines of Lautembourg: But they Forrage all the Country below those Lines, that the Imperialists may not find Subsistence should they pass the Rhine. 'Tis reckon'd the Marshal de Villars has taken above 23000 Crowns for Sauvegardes, besides the Sums he has extorted for Contributions.

Yarmouth, July 3. There are in these Roads Her Majesty's Ships the Ruby and Scarborough, with that part of the Russia and East-Country Fleet that came with them, and those that came to joyn them from the Northward. And Yesterday came in Her Majesty's Ship the Adventure from Harwich, to joyn them; and they expect to Morrow Sir Edward Whitaker, with his Squadron and other Merchant Ships bound with them.

Harwich, July 14. Yesterday a Fleet of Laden Colliers pass'd by this Port for the River. This Morning Sir Edward Whitaker with the East-Country and Russia Fleet sail'd from hence to the Northward. Here remain 2 Mails for Holland, all the Pacquet-Boats being on the other side.

Deal, July 4. Her Majesty's Ship the Orford sail'd Yesterday to the Westward; as did this Morning Her Majesty's Ships the Cornwall and Cruiser with the Antelope Hospital, and under their Convoy all the outward bound Transports and Store-ships for Spithead. Here remain Her Majesty's Ships the Milford, Squirrel, Valeur, and Commet Bomb-Vessel.
